

Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships Leading the way to the new Workforce! (Innis, Louisiana) - Sponsors of Louisiana's showcase event for career and technical education students announced the dates of the state's largest occupational skill competition today. The Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships. The SkillsUSA Championships will start on April 6, 2022. The name highlights new initiatives in work force training.

We found that we had outgrown our old term "Olympics," here in Louisiana and at the national level. That name put too much emphasis on individuals winning, said Larry Rabalais Louisiana High School state director. "The real focus of the Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships is to bring the best out in everyone who participates. America's and Louisiana's economy is only as strong as it is broad-based. Many skills are required and everyone needs to contribute," he explained."

The announcement of the annual event was made at the annual SkillsUSA Board of Directors meeting, this last September.

The national competition was started in 1967 as a way to recognize the talents and aspirations of America's career and technical education students.

In the first year the competition was comprised of only three contests. Since then, the event has grown to include 130 contest and more than 7,323 contestants from across the nation. Winners from the Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships will go to the national competition in Atlanta, GA, in June 2022.

Louisiana has been holding statewide skills contest since April 1981. This past year, Louisiana's SkillsUSA association sent 134 student contestants to the national competition.

Both the national and Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships are sponsored by SkillsUSA.

SkillsUSA is a nationwide organization serving career and technical education students in high schools, two-year colleges and career and technical education centers. SkillsUSA's annual membership averages more than one-quarter million students and teachers in career and technical, and health occupations programs.

SkillsUSA is an applied methnized for their achievements. Second, the competition is a collective effort by business, education and labor. Third, the contestants are stringently evaluated according to industry competencies. Fourth, the competition stresses all employment skills, including communications and teamwork.

The SkillsUSA Championships has become one of the best ways for us to focus on skilled workers and what they must do to be successful, said Larry Rabalais, SkillsUSA Louisiana, Inc. Executive Director. "We think the new name keeps that focus od for preparing America's and Louisiana's high performance workers in public career and technical education programs. It provides quality education experiences for students in leadership, teamwork citizenship and character development. It emphasizes total quality at work: high ethical standards, superior work skills, lifelong education and pride in the dignity of work. SkillsUSA also promotes understanding of the free enterprise system and involvement in community service activities.

SkillsUSA officials give four reasons for the growth of the competition program. First, career and technical education students need a means by which they can be recogwhere it belongs."

This year's Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships will be held April 7, 2022 beginning at 8:00 a.m. at Bossier/Caddo in Bossier City & Shreveport,

The Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships is a showcase for the state's best career and technology students to demonstrate their excellence in both skill and leadership. Involving more than 500 contestants, the state event shows Louisiana who its skilled workers are-and what it takes for them to succeed. The championships are a positive way for employers to express their needs directly to educators. The competition is unique: technical experts from labor and industry design the contests to include a wide variety of skills that are needed in our work force, rather than gearing the events to what is taught in particular training programs. This motivates both students and personnel. This direct evaluation improves and upgrades the state of occupational training throughout Louisiana.

The philosophy of the Louisiana SkillsUSA Championships is to reward students for excellence, to involve industry in directly evaluating student performance, and to keep training relevant to employers' needs. Nearly 250 judges and contest organizers from the ranks of labor and management make it possible. They not only design the contest—they provide equipment, tools, supplies, money, executive time, talent, technical expertise, and awards for the winners. The investment by Louisiana business and labor in time and management is significant.

Louisiana SkillsUSA works directly with business and industry to maintain American productivity, quality and competitiveness. SkillsUSA and Business is a partnership that pays off. Through a proven system that produces quality-trained, well-rounded, entry-level employees, SkillsUSA brings together educators, administrators, corporate America, labor organizations, trade associations and government.
